About This Guide

This guide was created by the Richmond City Health District. The purpose of the guide is to provide an overview of treatment options for substance use disorder in the Richmond Metro Area. Some of the facilities listed in this guide focus primarily on treating opioid use disorders, but many of the facilities also treat alcohol and other drug use disorders. A general overview of certain resources is provided below; it is important to note that employees at each facility can give people seeking treatment a more comprehensive overview of services.

Corrections to This Guide

Please send an email to kate.bausman@vdh.virginia.gov to correct any errors in this guide, add additional information or to add or remove a facility in future editions of this guide.

Organization of This Guide

We have separated the treatment facilities into different sections for the user's convenience. Although some of the facilities may have multiple services that fit into multiple sections, each facility is only listed once in this guide. For example, a facility that provides Medication Assisted Treatment may also have an Intensive Outpatient Program. If you are searching for a particular treatment or service, such as "Intensive Outpatient," you can search the guide by pressing "CTRL" and "F" concurrently on Windows or "Command" and "F" on Mac and type "Intensive Outpatient" into the search bar that appears.

An explanation of the different sections is below:

- Community Services Boards (CSB): These are single points of entry into publicly funded mental health, developmental, and substance use services¹. Individuals can use the CSB in their locality to access these publicly funded services. CSBs offer a multitude of services, but this guide focuses specifically on the CSBs' substance use services.
- Medically Monitored Detox/Partial Hospitalization/Medically Monitored Inpatient: These settings offer direct access to psychiatric, medical, and laboratory services². In "Detox," the patient will be monitored by medical professionals while drugs and alcohol exit the person's system. The person may be administered drugs to assist in the detox process. In "Partial Hospitalization," the patient receives 20 or more hours of clinically intensive programming and is monitored in a structured outpatient setting. In "Medically Monitored Inpatient," the person receives highly structured 24-hour services and has immediate access to medical professionals.
- Specifically For Youth: These programs provide services solely to youth, adolescents, and their families.

- Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT): These programs combine the use of medications (like methadone, buprenorphine, or naltrexone) with counseling and other services. MAT is proven to be clinically effective³. MAT is recommended only for adults.
- Outpatient: These may include facilities that offer Intensive Outpatient Programs, groups, individual counseling and more. Patients do not live or stay overnight at these facilities.
- Residential: Patients stay at these facilities for an extended length of time while receiving treatment. The treatment options at these facilities may differ, but can include counseling, 12 step groups, skill-building activities and more.
- Referrals and Case Management: These organizations provide referrals or connection to care for clients. These services include help-lines. Depending on the organization, they may assist clients with navigating attendance of multiple appointments, finding housing, signing up for public assistance and more.
- Support Services: These organizations include 12 step groups, support groups, advocacy groups and peer support services.
